

Coaching and support for tomorrow's chamber musicians

“ChamberStudio provides wonderful opportunities for young chamber groups to work with some of the finest musicians around today”

Steven Isserlis, CBE

What we do

ChamberStudio provides year-round coaching and support for young professional chamber musicians in the fragile early stages of their careers.

We hold weekly Masterclasses at Kings Place in central London given by some of the world’s finest chamber music players and teachers.

This unique model allows ensembles to benefit from high level specialist coaching alongside the demands of busy freelance careers.

We also run a Mentorship scheme giving selected chamber ensembles the opportunity to study in depth for a year with a chosen Mentor.

Masterclasses are open to observers and details can be found at chamberstudio.org/calendar

Why your support matters

Our work costs £80,000 a year. The musicians pay a heavily subsidised fee for Masterclasses and our Mentorship scheme – by far the costliest programme we run – is free. So we only recoup 10% of our costs in fees. We need to raise funds to cover the rest.

We receive no public funding and rely solely on support from trusts and individuals who care about the future of chamber music.

By joining our Supporters Circle, you can play an essential role in helping us bridge this financial gap. Our overheads are low – we have no office or full time staff – so your money will go directly to helping the musicians.

Razumovsky Supporter

£40-£499 (single)/ £50-£499 (joint)

- Notice of Masterclass and Concert dates;
- A reception where you may meet professors (all musicians of international renown) and chamber ensembles;
- Your donation will help the next generation of UK chamber musicians

Archduke Supporter
